I am trying to build a single form for edit, create and delete. I have a table of user details and have an edit view, that shows a form and another view to create a new user. The create view loads this single form.

I have one action to do create a new user and to delete a user. As they are a similar but not the same, I just have one form.

Here is the problem: In the controller, I know I can call a partial from another controller like so: null));

```
$this->viewModel->result = $viewModel; return $this->viewModel; } } class UserController extends
```

```
AbstractActionController { public function addAction() { $viewModel = new ViewModel(array('result' => null));
```

```
$this->viewModel->result = $viewModel; $form = new Form\UserForm; return $this->viewModel->form = $form; } } class
```

```
DeleteUser extends AbstractActionController { public function deleteAction() {
```
